Page 10, paragraph 55 should read:

"PRAPAM's environmental and social category has been classified as A. The environmental and social risks potentially posed by PRAPAM could range from low to significant levels, especially in the case of works for water source and soil reclamation and for farm production that cover areas greater than 100 ha. This is also the case for infrastructure works for tracks and stretches of roads greater than 10 km in length and other works such as dams."
