The forty-ninth session of the Governing Council of IFAD (GC49) takes place over two days. The first day, Tuesday, 10 February, is the High-level Segment of the Governing Council with Leaders' Dialogues, while the second day, Wednesday, 11 February, is focused on matters related to governance and partnership.

The formal session will be preceded on Monday, 9 February, by a pre-event day. It will bring together a wide range of partners and offer opportunities for bilateral meetings among delegates and with IFAD Management and staff. A Briefing Session on Governance at IFAD will give an overview of IFAD's governance framework, decision-making in IFAD's governing bodies and the roles and engagement of Member States in defining the Fund's strategic direction. The session will also provide information on the proposed implementation of an electronic in-presence and closed voting system at IFAD, which may be used for the appointment of the President of IFAD at the fiftieth session of the Governing Council in February 2027, if required.

HIGH-LEVEL SEGMENT. This will feature keynote addresses, a Centre Stage Event and Leaders' Dialogues with special high-level guests. The first day will conclude with a special event marking the 10th anniversary of the Governing Council's adoption of the International Day of Family Remittances.

GOVERNANCE AND PARTNERSHIPS. There will be a forward-looking focus on IFAD throughout the second day, which will include the consideration of business items, the annual Governors' Round Table, an exploration of priorities for the upcoming Consultation on the Fourteenth Replenishment of IFAD's Resources (IFAD14), Governors' Dialogues and other events that celebrate the power of partnerships.

IFAD fulfils a unique role in rural transformation as an innovative specialized agency of the United Nations and an international financial institution that promotes and invests in rural areas and rural women, youth and men to render them prosperous, equitable and resilient contributors to national growth.

The overarching theme of the Governing Council is "From Farm to Market: Investing with Young Entrepreneurs". There are 1.3 billion young people in the world today – the largest generation in history, and nearly half of them live in rural areas. These young women and men face deep challenges: limited access to land, finance, skills and decent jobs, while climate change and migration pressures weigh heavily on their communities. Yet they also represent one of the greatest untapped opportunities of our time. With their energy, resilience, and openness to innovation, youth are already reimagining agriculture and food systems: adopting digital solutions, driving green transitions and reshaping value chains from farm to market.

IFAD recognizes that youth are not just the future, they are the present. By investing in their entrepreneurial potential, we can unlock new pathways for employment, reduce poverty and inequality, and ensure that rural areas become thriving engines of stability, prosperity and sustainable growth.

This session takes place at the beginning of the International Year of the Woman Farmer, declared in recognition of the key role that women farmers around the world play in agrifood systems and their contributions to food security, nutrition and poverty eradication. It comes at a time when we need to redouble our efforts to address the root causes of fragility, conflict and forced migration and overcome the discrimination and challenges faced by rural youth and women farmers so that they may realize their potential as drivers of economic and social development and transformed rural areas.

IFAD remains committed to fostering innovation and sustainable growth by investing in rural people and transforming rural economies. Women make up more than half of IFAD's project participants, while over 60 per cent of our active project portfolio is youth-sensitive, reaching more than 12 million young people globally. We firmly believe that empowering youth and women entrepreneurs to initiate and expand agribusinesses will serve as a vital catalyst for economic development and create lasting positive impacts. By investing in the next generation of innovative farmers and entrepreneurs, we aim to build resilient, inclusive economies that benefit all.

The forty-ninth session of the Governing Council will also mark the establishment of the IFAD14 Consultation and provide a forum for Governors to share their insights on priority areas for strategic action. This discussion will continue at the launch of the IFAD14 Consultation on Thursday, 12 February, with Consultation members.

International Day of Family Remittances
16 JUNE

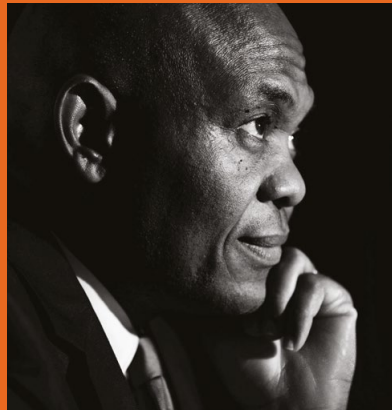

MAXIMIZING THE IMPACT OF REMITTANCES AND DIASPORA INVESTMENT ON RURAL DEVELOPMENT

The International Day of Family Remittances (IDFR) was adopted by IFAD's Governing Council in 2015 and by the United Nations General Assembly in 2018. Since then, it has become a global movement endorsed by public and private actors alike. Over the past decade, migrants have sent over US$5 trillion to low- and middle-income countries, one third of which reaches rural areas. Through remittances, diaspora investment and support to returning migrants, IFAD has led global efforts to turn the story of migration from one of departure into one of opportunity and development at home. Supported by donors and partners, IFAD's Financing Facility for Remittances has channelled these flows into financial inclusion, climate resilience and rural prosperity. The IDFR embodies this shared commitment, uniting all actors to make every remittance count for development.

A man in a dark long-sleeved shirt and dark trousers is working in a greenhouse. He is standing in a narrow aisle between rows of plants that are growing on raised beds. The plants appear to be leafy greens. The greenhouse structure is made of metal frames and translucent plastic covering. The lighting is bright, suggesting natural light coming through the plastic.

INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF THE WOMAN FARMER 2026

In recognition of the United Nations' declaration of 2026 as the International Year of the Woman Farmer – a global observance celebrating the vital contributions of women farmers to food security, climate resilience and rural prosperity – this high-level dialogue will spotlight women farmers as leaders, innovators and entrepreneurs driving resilient and inclusive rural economies. Together, we will honour their leadership and commitment to building stronger, more profitable and sustainable rural livelihoods.
