Proposed loan to Belize for the Rural Finance Programme

I. The programme

A. Main development opportunity addressed by the programme

1. The Rural Finance Programme is based on the rationale that there is substantially unexploited economic potential among the rural population of Belize. This potential has been hindered by the lack of access to credit and other financial services (savings, insurance, remittances). The strengthening of inclusive and sustainable rural financial services tailored to the needs of poor farmers and small rural enterprises is a critical means to enhance rural development in the country and complement ongoing poverty reduction programmes.

B. Proposed financing

Terms and conditions

2. It is proposed that IFAD provide a loan to Belize in the amount of SDR 2.05 million (equivalent to approximately US$3.00 million) on ordinary terms to help finance the Rural Finance Programme. The loan will have a term of 18 years, including a grace period of three years, with an interest rate equal to the reference interest rate per annum as determined by the Fund annually.

Relationship to the IFAD performance-based allocation system (PBAS)

3. The allocation defined for Belize under the PBAS is US$3.00 million over the 2007-2009 allocation cycle.

Country debt burden and absorptive capacity of the State

4. Belize’s external debt is managed under a strict financial policy, thus the country has adequate capacity to absorb and service the proposed loan. Since 1986, IFAD has provided loan funding to the country to finance two rural development projects for a total of SDR 3.85 million.

Flow of funds

5. IFAD loan proceeds will be deposited into a special account operated by the Ministry of Finance. The proceeds of the IFAD loan will be channelled to the Belize Credit Union League (BCUL) and to the Rural Credit Fund Trustee, directly from the IFAD loan account and/or from the special account as may be determined by the Ministry of Finance under two separate subsidiary agreements. Applications for withdrawals from the IFAD loan will be made by the person/s designated by the Ministry of Finance.

6. Withdrawals not exceeding in the aggregate the equivalent of US$50,000 may be made from the loan account in respect of expenditures for recruitment of the programme management unit (PMU) staff and adjustments to the Belize Credit Union League (BCUL) existing accounting system, as appropriate. Such expenditures may be incurred before the date of the loan agreement but after the Executive Board approval.

Supervision arrangements

7. The programme will be directly supervised by IFAD.

Exceptions to IFAD General Conditions for Agricultural Development Financing and operational policies

8. No exceptions are foreseen.
Governance

9. The following planned measures are intended to enhance the governance aspects of the IFAD loan: (i) annual independent audits in accordance with international auditing standards and the IFAD Guidelines on Project Audits; (ii) subsidiary agreements between the Ministry of Finance and the two programme parties designated for the implementation of programme activities, and a memorandum of understanding between these organizations and each participating credit union.

C. Target group and participation

Target group

10. The programme will have national coverage. The target population includes 11,500 poor rural households, of which 4,000 households are considered extremely poor. The programme’s direct beneficiaries, who include a high percentage of women and young people, will be small-scale farmers, microentrepreneurs, craft workers, subsistence fishers, rural wage workers and indigenous communities. An estimated 15,000 poor and extremely poor people will directly benefit from the programme over the seven-year implementation period.

Targeting approach

11. The programme’s targeting strategy is in line with the IFAD Policy on Targeting and reflects the lessons learned in previous IFAD interventions. To this effect, emphasis will be placed on the adoption of appropriate measures to enhance the capacity of the programme to reach disadvantaged ethnic groups effectively – Mayans, in particular – and to address social, ethnic and gender diversity in its operations. The programme will pilot an innovative housing-based targeting tool.

Participation

12. Participating credit unions will receive a tailored institution- and capacity-building package to help them expand their credit operations and diversify their financial services (e.g. by mobilizing savings or offering insurance or cash transfers) and adapt them to the needs of the target population (poor rural clients). If eligible under the programme criteria, these credit unions will also be able to borrow from the programme’s rural credit fund in order to enlarge their capacity to lend to their poor members/clients in rural areas.

D. Development objectives

Key programme objectives

13. The overall goal is to contribute to reducing the levels of poverty and extreme poverty of the rural population – men, women and young people – in Belize by increasing the incomes and assets of small farmers and other rural groups through improved rural financial services. The purpose of the programme is to expand and enhance inclusive and sustainable rural financial services for underserved small farmers and other rural groups in the country.

14. The specific objectives are to: (i) improve the governance, management and operational capabilities of credit unions; (ii) strengthen the BCUL in order to expand its capacity for developing, coordinating and training the credit union movement; (iii) provide rural financial services and, particularly, credit facilities for agricultural production and rural non-agricultural entrepreneurial activities; (iv) foster the capitalization of both credit unions and clients through the affiliation of the rural poor to the credit union movement, and the mobilization of savings; and (v) to establish a knowledge management system for information exchange and monitoring and evaluation (M&E).

Policy and institutional objectives

15. The programme will build on the experience of the credit union movement in Belize, which spans over sixty years, with the aim of consolidating its development and expansion to rural areas, and of generating "know-how" that could help the Government formulate appropriate policies in agriculture and rural finance.

IFAD policy and strategy alignment

16. The programme stems from IFAD’s previous operation in the southern region of the country and aims at scaling up at the national level one of the most interesting experiences, i.e. the support provided to expanding rural financial services by building capacity and financing two credit unions. The consolidation of these unions is presently being supported by an IFAD country-specific grant.

E. Harmonization and alignment

Alignment with national priorities

17. Under the present National Poverty Elimination Strategy and Action Plan for 2007-2011, the Government is adopting the following strategy for rural poverty reduction: (i) a long-term commitment to improving social services (education, health, sanitation); (ii) a continuous process to decentralize investment decisions to local governments and rural community-based organizations; (iii) promotion of the expansion of financial services to rural areas; and (iv) strong leadership and coordination by the Ministry of Economic Development. Therefore, the Rural Finance Programme is fully aligned with national priorities and the national poverty reduction strategic framework.

Harmonization with development partners

18. Key development partners include: (i) the European Union, which is financing the largest complementary programmes (i.e. the Belize Rural Development Programme and a sugar rehabilitation programme); (ii) the Inter-American Development Bank, which is providing capacity-building, through its Multilateral Investment Fund, to the Credit Union Supervision Unit of the Central Bank of Belize and to the BCUL.

F. Components and expenditure categories

Main components

19. The programme has four components: (i) institution- and capacity-building (31 per cent of base cost); (ii) rural credit fund (41 per cent); (iii) rural shares and savings incentives (12 per cent); and (iv) programme management unit (PMU) and M&E (16 per cent).

Expenditure categories

20. There are eight expenditure categories: (i) vehicles and equipment (4.7 per cent of base cost); (ii) short- and long-term consultancies (21.8 per cent); (iii) credit funds (38.9 per cent); (iv) capitalization funds for share/savings incentives (11.1 per cent); (v) training (2 per cent); (vi) salaries (10.8 per cent); (vii) operation and maintenance (8.3 per cent); and (viii) trustee management fee (2.3 per cent).

G. Management, implementation responsibilities and partnerships

Key implementing partners

21. These will be: (i) the BCUL, which is the apex organization of the Belize credit union movement. Through a subsidiary agreement with the Government, it will act as the umbrella organization under which the PMU will operate; (ii) the Rural Credit Fund Trustee, which is the second-tier financial institution in charge of managing the credit trust fund and lending to eligible credit unions (first-tier financial institutions).

Implementation responsibilities

22. The programme will be implemented in a decentralized manner, with the Government (the Ministry of Finance and Ministry of Economic Development) maintaining control of policy decisions through its chairing of the programme oversight committee, while delegating – mostly to private-sector organizations – the actual implementation under specific subsidiary agreements.
Role of technical assistance
23. The programme will provide institutional strengthening and capacity-building at three levels: (i) BCUL; (ii) participating credit unions; and (iii) members of participating credit unions. The institution- and capacity-building activities and training for union members, staff and officials will be provided in two stages, focusing on: (i) members’ rights and responsibilities, financial literacy and personal financial planning in addition to credit union governance and credit administration; and (ii) product development and implementation, and business planning and financial analysis. The activities of the latter will be oriented towards facilitating, by means of technical assistance, the implementation of the rural shares and savings incentives component.

Status of key implementation agreements
24. In addition to the loan agreement, the programme will be implemented through two subsidiary agreements between the Government and, respectively, the BCUL (component (i), (iii) and (iv)) and the Rural Credit Fund Trustee (component (ii)). The trustee will be selected through a competitive tendering procedure at the beginning of programme implementation. Every credit union eligible to participate in the programme will be required to enter into a memorandum of understanding with the PMU for the non-reimbursable components ((i) and (iii)) and with the trustee for the credit component. Technical assistance providers will be hired on the basis of the IFAD Procurement Guidelines.

Key financing partners and amounts committed
25. The total programme cost is US$6.04 million over seven years. The sources of financing are IFAD (49.7 per cent), the Central American Bank for Economic Integration (31.5 per cent), the Government (12.1 per cent) and credit unions (6.7 per cent).

H. Benefits and economic and financial justification
Main categories of benefits generated
26. The principal benefits anticipated are: (i) growth in total individual membership of participating credit unions of 22 per cent (15,000 new members); (ii) 60 per cent (9,000) rural poor credit union members become savers, of which at least 40 per cent are women; (iii) 5,000 small farmers improve/expand agricultural activities through credit from the programme; (iv) 15,000 persons are trained in cooperativism and basic financial literacy, of which 60 per cent are women (includes all types of training); (v) the institutional strengthening package provided to participating credit union results in the widespread use of at least one new financial product that is better tailored to rural client needs; and (vi) at least one field officer from each participating credit union trained by the programme is providing services to the target population.

Economic and financial viability
27. Since this is a rural finance stand-alone programme, the analysis has focused on the viability of the most likely investments by the beneficiaries. Six farm models, representing the main agricultural systems in the programme area, were developed and used to estimate the farmers’ incremental incomes as a result of programme interventions. In addition, five small rural business models were formulated. All the models show very positive results with an aggregate economic rate of return of 37 per cent.

I. Knowledge management, innovation and scaling up
Knowledge management arrangements
28. The programme has important elements of innovation. Therefore, its M&E system and knowledge management strategy have been designed accordingly. Programme progress will be continuously monitored and documented during implementation to feed the PMU and the programme stakeholders regularly with information. In this way, the programme’s strategy and instruments can be adjusted, with the aim of maximizing impact.

Development innovations that the programme will promote

29. The programme design has several innovative features: (i) it aims at national coverage through the scaling up of previous IFAD experiences in the southern districts of the country; (ii) implementation responsibility is delegated by the Government to the private sector (credit unions); (iii) it is a stand-alone rural finance operation as opposed to a typical multi-component integrated rural development project; (iv) it will provide pilot “matching-grant” incentives to beneficiaries willing to become a credit union member and open a savings account; and (v) its targeting and gender strategies.

Scaling-up approach

30. The programme is designated for national coverage, which in a small country such as Belize is not an issue. However, because of the level of innovation embedded in some of the activities, these will be initially undertaken on a pilot basis. Once the results have been assessed, the activities will gradually be scaled up.

J. Main risks

Main risks and mitigation measures

31. The programme faces two main risks: (i) credit unions’ financial and management risks; (ii) credit union members’ (clients) market- and agriculture-related risks. The planned mitigation measures include effective and timely M&E combined with specialized technical assistance for the credit unions. The role of the Central Bank of Belize, which is in charge of supervising the unions, will also be critical in this regard. International technical assistance providers will be hired for some selected and specialized areas, in which no in-country qualified service providers are available.

Environmental classification

32. Pursuant to IFAD’s environmental assessment procedures, the programme has been classified as a category B operation in that it is not likely to have any significant negative environmental impact.

K. Sustainability

33. Key elements in support of sustainability include: (i) the expected increase in credit union membership, as well as the estimated capitalization of many of the unions; and (ii) successful negotiations with the Government to maintain the operations and the mandate of the rural credit fund after programme completion, for a period to be agreed.

II. Legal instruments and authority

34. A programme loan agreement between Belize and IFAD will constitute the legal instrument for extending the proposed loan to the borrower. Important assurances included in the negotiated agreement are attached as an annex.

35. Belize is empowered under its laws to borrow from IFAD.

36. I am satisfied that the proposed loan will comply with the Agreement Establishing IFAD.
III. Recommendation

37. I recommend that the Executive Board approve the proposed loan in terms of the following resolution:

RESOLVED: that the Fund shall make a loan to Belize in various currencies in an amount equivalent to two million and fifty thousand special drawing rights (SDR 2,050,000) to mature on or prior to 1 October 2026 and to bear an interest rate equal to the reference interest rate per annum as determined by the Fund annually, and to be upon such terms and conditions as shall be substantially in accordance with the terms and conditions presented to the Executive Board herein.
