

Results Management Framework (RMF) 2025-2027

IFAD13 3rd Session
2-3 November 2023

IFAD13
REPLENISHMENT

Principles of IFAD13 RMF

Consistency and continuity

The majority of indicators are maintained from IFAD12 to allow for effective management of performance across cycles

Streamlining

Indicators expected to be completed/fully achieved against set targets

Indicators reported on in detail in different reporting mechanisms

Indicators that have been mainstreamed already and made mandatory due to their nature

Alignment with IFAD13 priorities and external benchmarking

Internal alignment to IFAD13 priorities and the evolving business model

Benchmarking with comparator organizations

Informed and evidence-based adjustments

Evidence based adjustments to indicator targets

Shift from tracking against targets to reporting on achievement of results at output/outcome level

Key adjustments applying the principles

Tier II

Tier III

Development
results

Operational

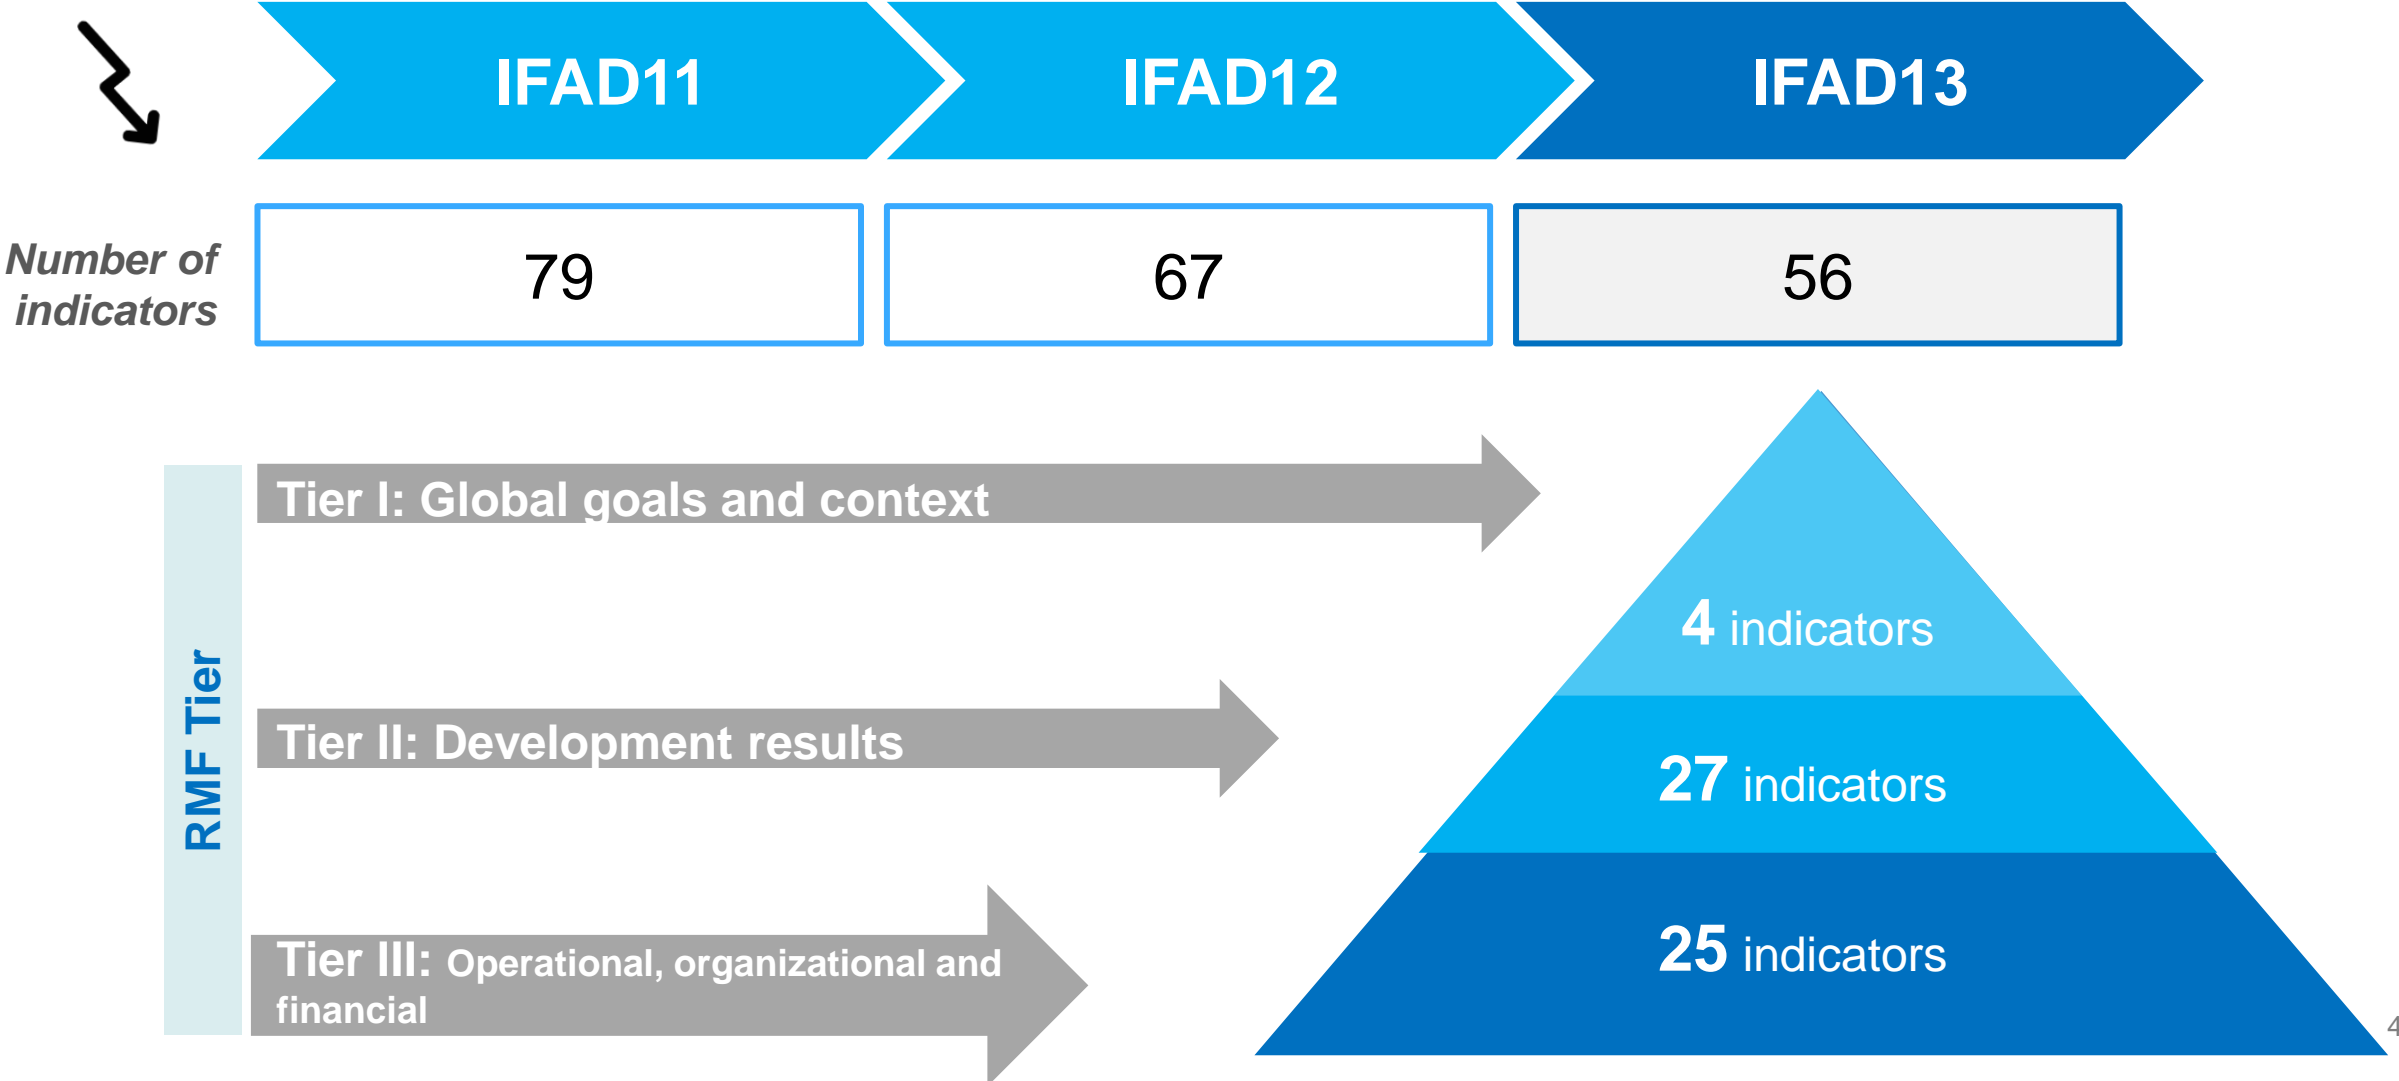

Financial

Organizational

- Alignment with IFAD13 priorities through the inclusion of new indicators, e.g. women's empowerment and food insecurity
- Informed adjustments to targets, e.g. scaling up and nutrition
- Learning from IOE evaluation and moving away from targets to tracking actual achievement

- Streamlining indicators to remove repetition across reports, e.g. reduction of HR indicators and partnership
- Alignment with IFAD13 priorities with new indicators on private sector operations, etc.

Streamlining for efficient and effective results management

Integrating learning from IOE review

Shifting from targets for all indicators to tracking output and outcome indicators and reporting on results achieved

Developing and making available metadata for all RMF indicators

Streamlining RMF indicators to avoid repetition and keep in mind implications of including additional indicators

Establishing a Community of Practice on project-level M&E as part of its 2023 M&E action plan

Strengthening the credibility and reliability of all RMF indicator data

LIFAD | FIDA

The background of the slide features a stylized, halftone-style illustration of a landscape with rolling hills and several wheat stalks in the foreground. The stalks are rendered in shades of yellow, orange, and red, while the hills and sky are in various tones of blue. The overall aesthetic is modern and agricultural.
